The environment is really welcoming and friendly, and I have loved every moment of it.

The engineering tutors all have excellent industry experience and use that to really improve our learning experience.

I have never felt out of place, which can happen as there are times when I'm the only girl in the room, and I have always felt like part of the team. The tutors are always happy to help and encourage everyone to ask questions. I have learnt so much and will never forget my time here."

London Stansted Airport is one of the UK's busiest international airports.

In 2019 it served more than 28 million passengers, offering flights to more than 200 destinations across 40 different countries.

The airport is one of the biggest centres of employment in the East of England, with thousands of jobs across the various airlines and other businesses based on site.

While the coronavirus pandemic has had a significant impact on the UK aviation industry this year, Stansted still has plans to make full use of its runway in the most sustainable and responsible way, maximising the benefits for everyone.
